

BÖWE BELL + HOWELL SCANNERS HIRES WIDE-FORMAT TECHNOLOGY VETERAN

WHEELING, Ill., August 20, 2008 – BÖWE BELL + HOWELL (BBH) Scanners has hired Stephen Andrikut, a wide-format technology industry veteran, to further the growth of the company's Infinity WF scanner line.

Available in 36-, 42- and 48-inch models, Infinity WF scanners are reliable solutions for geographic information systems (GIS), government agencies, and architectural, engineering and construction firms looking to convert large-scale documents such as maps, land surveys and architectural drawings into flawless digital images, quickly and reliably.

Stephen Andrikut, 55, brings more than 20 years of wide-format technology experience to the position of business development manager for the Infinity WF scanner line. Andrikut worked with wide-format micrographic-based engineering systems before the widespread proliferation of wide-format scanners and printers.

Prior to joining BBH, Andrikut worked as an account executive with wide-format reseller, XACT Supply Co. Inc., where he oversaw sales and support for a line of wide-format products. He also has held sales positions at Océ N.V. and Lanier Worldwide, Inc.

"Steve has been a consistent performer in the wide-format realm for the last several years," said Russell Hunt, president of BÖWE BELL + HOWELL Scanners. "His experience will prove to be an invaluable asset to Infinity WF's market development."

Andrikut will work closely with BBH sales managers to successfully market Infinity WF. He also will support and grow the company's network of value added resellers (VARs) dedicated to this scanner segment.

Andrikut holds a bachelor's degree in English and education from St. Lawrence University in Canton, N.Y.
