

CSI Showcases Fintech Solutions, Explores the Next Chapter in Banking at Annual Customer Conference

PADUCAH, KY – Computer Services, Inc. \(CSI\) (OTCQX:CSVI), a provider of end-to-end technology solutions, recently hosted nearly 1,000 customers, banking executives, technology practitioners and industry partners at CSI Customer Experience 2019 (CX19). Among the attendees were 31 prospective financial institutions considering CSI as their new technology partner.

The conference, which was held Sept. 4-6 at the Marriott Marquis Chicago, offered attendees educational content on such key industry issues as digital transformation, payments, cybersecurity, compliance and elevating the customer experience. Throughout the event, attendees had the opportunity to gain deeper insight into fintech and regtech trends through expert-led breakout sessions, in-depth customer panels, live technology showcases and interactive user groups.

Rebeca Romero Rainey, president and CEO of Independent Community Bankers of America, and Wayne Best, chief economist for Visa, served as the keynote speakers for CX19, delivering unique messages on challenges facing community banking. Romero Rainey discussed strategies attendees could leverage to write the next chapter in their institution's story, while Best presented detailed data on the current state of the U.S. economy.

"Our annual conference presents an opportunity for financial institutions to meet with their peers, learn the latest industry insight and discover new product offerings," said Steve Powless, CSI's chairman and CEO. "After attending the conference, executives leave with a wealth of knowledge they can use to ensure their institution is utilizing their products to their full capacity. What's more, they also can leverage the knowledge they gained from other industry leaders to ensure a profitable and competitive journey both now and in the future."
